

Atheist CAN and SHOULD have Easter Egg Hunts!

East egg hunts are one simple tradition that many of us have grown up with. But what happens to that tradition when you're all grown up and no longer part of the Christian church? You still have Christian friends and you still want to enjoy all of the festivities you grew up with. There are so many of us out there who fit into this category, we just never talk about it. It's the elephant in our modern homes who only comes to visit around Easter and Christmas. This book is for the various assortment of us non-religious folks and Christians too. Find where you and your family still fit in with religious traditions from your past and how to make new ones.

The unreligious and the religious have a lot in common. We are not enemies. We just need to do more than talk about our differences. We need to find what we have in common and enjoy each other's company without being all judgmental to one another. Some of us will be able to do this and others will need to go back to kindergarten and learn how to get along with their neighbors. Come laugh, come cry, and most importantly, leave with the hope that this Easter could not only be less awkward than you're expecting, but possibly your best one yet!
