

Dads, Teach Your Child (Ages 2-6) About Becoming a Brother

WonderDads Do-it-Yourself Classes are the perfect way for Dads to bond with their child over learning a specific subject. Each WonderDads Do-it-Yourself Class features four lessons and a variety of additional creative activities for Dads to do with their child, in a book format. The four lessons included in this class are: Our Family is Growing!; Being a Big Brother; When the New Baby is Born; How Can I Be a Helper to Mom & Dad. While Dads can go over the entire book in one sitting with their child, WonderDads recommends doing one lesson each week for 30 minutes, for a total of four weeks, and even setting up a specific time (like Sundays at 4:00) to do the class each week. Classes are one of the best (and most fun) ways for Dads to bond with their child. Unfortunately, many structured parent-child classes are held at a time of the day that make it impossible for most Dads to attend. For this reason, WonderDads has created Do-it-Yourself Classes in a book format that enables Dads to do a class with their child at any time they choose, in their own home or any other location. Each lesson is only a couple of pages and explains in detail how to cover the topic with your child, complete with activities and word recognition. Dads are encouraged to add their own flair and ideas, as well as take cues from their children on how to keep their interest. WonderDads classes have been created and recommended by teachers, pediatricians, Moms and Dads, and are an incredibly easy and fun way for Dads to bond with their child over a specific subject.
