

Say Goodnight Cassie

In 2011, the LSU Tigers were one of the best teams in college football. Led by quarterbacks Jarrett Lee and Jordan Jefferson as well defensive stars Morris Claiborne and Tyrann Mathieu, the Tigers rolled off to a 12-0 regular season as well as the programs first SEC championship since 2007 to earn a spot in the BCS National Championship game against the University of Alabama. College football writer and LSU fan Ryne E. Hancock chronicles the 2011 LSU season in his latest book, Say Goodnight Cassie: A Southern Football Memoir. The book chronicles the season from the fans perspective as well as themes of friendships, faith, and fun.
