

To Love and Be Loved

Maintaining healthy personal relationships is the most challenging spiritual practice of all. For Stephen and Ondrea Levine, the essence of intimacy - not only with one another, but with God - lies in the rich and forbidding depths of our personal pain. True commitment requires us to swim across the reservoir of each others grief. In this remarkable program, the Levines teach couples how they can immerse themselves, together, in the ocean of compassion, and find the strength and courage to overcome heart-closing fear and discover mercy, creativity, freedom, and love. With exercises, meditations, and examples, the Levines demonstrate how to decipher this priceless map of partnership, and practice the difficult but powerfully rewarding yoga of relationship.
