

Jims Guide to Public Speaking What Do You Have to Say?

Dear Anxious Speaker, Fear of Public Speaking is one of the most common fears for people - even above death! On top of that, you may never have received training on public speaking and don't know where to start. So if you've been asked to give a speech or need to learn public speaking for your career or schooling, where do you begin? Since a large part of the anxiety public speakers feel is due to a lack of preparation, learning how to plan, write and practice your speech will give you the confidence you need to get through it. Are you speaking in class, in a wedding, at a work conference? Why have you been asked to speak and what value are you providing to your listeners? Public speaking isn't always natural but throughout your life you are bound to be asked to SPEAK UP more than once. Rather than suffer through it, why not learn how it's done and develop a new skill? Not only will you be less nervous, you'll build your confidence and feel proud of your accomplishment! ANYONE can give a public speech - a child, someone with a disability or someone advanced in years - so YOU can too! All that's stopping you is your own fears and concerns so why not learn how you can...Speak Up!
