

Medievalia et Humanistica, No. 37: Studies in Medieval and Renaissance Culture: Literary Appropriations (Medievalia et Humanistica Series)

Volume 37 Literary Appropriationsexamines medieval literature in a different light. This volume features six original articles, focusing on the art of appropriation, as well as fourteen reviews of recent scholarly publications. The first article The Oldest Manuscript Witness of the First Life of Blessed Francis of Assisi by Jacques Dalarun reveals the oldest known source of the writings of Francis of Assisi, until of late only found in an Italian church publication. Lisa Bansen-Harps essay Ironic Patterning and Numerical Composition in the Vie de saint Alexis: Form and Effect/Affect takes an ironic look at the oppositions used throughout the work to offer a rich analysis of patterns. Reexamining genealogy as spiritual rather than biological is Nicole Leapeleys essay Rewriting Paternity: The Meaning of Renovating Westminster in La Esoire de seint Aedward le rei. David Lummuss essay Boccaccios Three Venuses: On the Convergence of Celestial and Transgressive Love in the Genealogie Deorum Gentilium Libri provides a comparative look of how lovecelestial and transgressivecan be seen in the Decameron. Dantes Justinian, Cinos Corpus: The Hermeneutics of Poetry and Law by Lorenzo Valterza compares and contrasts Dantes own view of law versus that of his friend Cino da Pistoia. Lastly, editor Paul Clogan contributes his own article Dantes Appropriation of Lucans Cato and Erichtho to demonstrate the importance of Lucans characters in Dantes own work Along with these articles, fourteen reviews, from the United States and all over the world, are included, truly making Medievalia et Humanistica an international publication.To reflect the submissions and audience for Medievalia et Humanistica, the editorial and review boards include ten members from the United States and ten international members, making this a truly international publication.For submission
