

A Christian Lawyer: A Sketch the Life and Work of Hon. Wappen Currier (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from A Christian Lawyer: A Sketch the Life and Work of Hon. Wappen Currier

The reason for the frequent use of the word Congregationalism in this book is the utter impossibility of writing the story of this life without it. It is a part of his life, and he was one of those who have led it out into a larger life. The times have changed. That which fifty years ago meant to the world at large a New England sect is now a gospel of light and liberty to thousands who have felt the oppression of sect. For us provincialism is disappearing in nationalism. The horizon has widened, and at the same time the concentration of the life and thought of those who hold a common faith in fellowship that means aggressive work is having its effect. We are a denomination. We even dare to call ourselves a church. He whose life story is briefly told here stands for this change.
