A few decades ago, a woman who engaged in casual or recreational sex came across as empowered, sexy and self-confident. She was a rare and desirable thing in a larger world of sexually modest women. Now, things have come full circle. It is the sexually modest woman who stands out as empowered, sexy and self-confident. She stands out as a rare and desirable thing in a larger dating world that is teeming with promiscuous party girls, desperate divas, cliché cougars and pouty-mouthed, selfie-snapping airheads. And she's precisely the kind of woman that a high-quality man is searching for. In The Modest Minx, leading Marriage & Dating Expert Debra Macleod, B.A., LL.B., provides controversial counter-culture advice for women who want more than casual sex or cohabitation - they want to get married. The Modest Minx is a comprehensive dating guide that shows a woman, step by step, how to use social grace and sexual self-restraint to distinguish herself as an alluring woman of class and substance. In the process, she protects her heart and prevents herself from spinning her wheels in a dead-end relationship. Date with social grace, sexual modesty and a confident purpose - to be seen as wife material by a marriage-minded man, not a take-it-or-leave-it booty call or roommate-with-benefits by a guy who has no intention of committing to you. Don't buy into the lie that marriage doesn't matter.

A Modest Minx knows better. And thanks to this book, she can date better, too.
